Our Top Five Dazzling Dials from Watches & Wonders

We look at the watch faces that had the wow factor during the Geneva showpiece

Forget functionality and ditch dimensions for a minute: If a watch's face doesn't have the wow factor, then performance and wearability can count for nothing. With that in mind, here are five timepieces from Watches & Wonders 2024 that really stood out thanks to their dazzling dials.

Ulysse by Beauregard x Vianney Halter

Canadian stone artisan Alexandre Beauregard's collaboration with independent watchmaking ace Vianney Halter – dubbed "Ulysse" – is simply breathtaking.

Beauregard's dial features 68 aquamarine stones as part of a gilded latticework, beneath which a reflective mother-of-pearl disc helps bring the whole ensemble to life with a play of light.

Having already launched his own line of high-end jewellery watches aimed at women – including the Grand Prix d'Horlogerie de Genève-nominated Lili Bouton – Beauregard chose to partner with his friend Halter to create Ulysse, Beauregard's first men's watch.

Known for his Antiqua perpetual calendar and Deep Space Tourbillon, Halter worked on the finely-finished automatic movement with mystery rotor that powers this 10-piece limited edition's hour and minute indications.
